
The fault is at the stage where the signal first departs from specification. Everything before it is healthy; everything after it is consequence. The cause usually sits one terminal deeper — on that stage's bias.